THIS Island, the most valuable appendage to the British Crown in the whole American Archipelago, is situated between $17^{\circ} 44'$ and $18^{\circ} 34'$ north latitude, and between $75^{\circ} 55'$ and $78^{\circ} 48'$ west longitude, being about 180 miles in length and 60 in breadth; was discovered by Columbus in 1494, in his second voyage to the West-Indies, and remained in possession of the Spaniards till 1655, when Penn and Venables, having failed in their attempt on Hispaniola, directed their course to Jamaica, where they arrived on the 10th of May, and, the Spaniards flying on all hands, obtained an easy conquest.—

THE following CLAUSES respecting RUNAWAY SLAVES, are extracted from the CONSOLIDATED SLAVE LAW of this Island.

XXIX. AND WHEREAS it is very dangerous to the peace and safety of this island, to suffer slaves to continue out as runaways; and it is absolutely necessary to declare and make known to the public what slaves shall be deemed such: BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED BY THE AUTHORITY AFORESAID, That, from and after the passing of this act, any slave or slaves who shall be absent from his owner or employer, without leave, for the space of ten days, or who shall be found at the distance of eight miles from the house, plantation, or other settlement, to which he, she, or they belong, without a ticket or permit to pass, except as before excepted, in going to and returning from market, shall be deemed a runaway.

XXX. AND BE IT FURTHER ENACTED BY THE AUTHORITY AFORESAID, That any person whatsoever who shall apprehend such slave or slaves shall, for every one so apprehended, be intitled to receive, from the owner, employer, overseer, or manager, of such slave or slaves, the sum of ten shillings, and no more, besides mile-money, at the rate of one shilling per mile for the first five miles, and sixpence per mile afterwards; PROVIDED, Such slave or slaves had absented him, her, or themselves, ten days, without the privity, knowledge, or consent, of the proprietor, overseer, or other white person residing on the plantation or settlement to which such slave or slaves shall belong; which time of absence of such slave or slaves shall be declared on the oath of such proprietor, overseer, or other white person, as aforesaid, if the party taking up such slave or slaves shall require it: BUT IT IS THE TRUE INTENT AND MEANING OF THIS ACT, That every person or persons who shall apprehend any slave or slaves that usually reside in, or are employed in, any of the towns of this island, and that at the time are actually run away, or absent from their owner, employer, or manager's service, ten days, shall be intitled to the reward of ten shillings, although the slave or slaves should not be eight miles distant from their employer's habitation: PROVIDED NEVERTHELESS, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to extend to an allowance of the said sum of ten shillings and mile-money, in addition to the sum allowed to maroon negroes for apprehending runaways: AND PROVIDED ALSO, That it is not hereby intended to deprive the said maroons of their legal and established reward of forty shillings for each negro.

XXXI. AND BE IT FURTHER ENACTED BY THE AUTHORITY AFORESAID, That the person or persons so apprehending such slave or slaves shall convey him, her, or them, to their respective owner, employer, or manager, or to the workhouse of such parish (if any workhouse is established there, and, in case of there being no workhouse, to the next gaol), in case the owner, employer, or manager, of such slave or slaves shall refuse to pay the said sum of ten shillings, and mile-money as aforesaid, or take the oath as to the time of absence; in which case, the gaol or workhouse keeper is hereby required and ordered to receive such slave or slaves into his or their custody, and to pay the party delivering such slave or slaves the said sum of ten shillings, and mile-money as aforesaid, and no more, for each slave so delivered, under the penalty of five pounds: PROVIDED NEVERTHELESS, That if such slave or slaves is or are brought to any gaol or workhouse by any white person, free negro, free mulatto, or Indian, no gaoler or workhouse-keeper shall pay such sum before such person shall have taken an oath (which oath such gaoler or workhouse-keeper is hereby required, under the penalty of five pounds, to file in his office, and produce whenever thereunto required by the owner or possessor of such slave or slaves), that the slave or slaves so apprehended was or were at the reputed distance of eight miles from the house, plantation, or settlement, to which such slave or slaves do belong (except as before is excepted), and that such slave or slaves had no ticket or other permit in writing from his master, mistress, overseer, employer, or manager, at the time such slave or slaves was or were apprehended, for him, her, or them, to pass unmolested, and that the said slave or slaves had been carried first to the owner, employer, or manager, of such slave or slaves (provided such owner, employer, or manager, shall be in the parish in which such slave or slaves shall be apprehended), and that the master, mistress, overseer, or manager, had refused to pay for the apprehending him, her, or them, according to the intent and meaning of this act.

XXXII. AND BE IT FURTHER ENACTED BY THE AUTHORITY

AFORES Aid, That no ticket shall be granted to any slave or slaves for any time exceeding one calendar month.

LXI. AND BE IT FURTHER ENACTED BY THE AUTHORITY AFORES Aid, That no runaway slave shall, on any account, be committed to gaol by any magistrate of a parish where there is any workhouse established, but to such workhouse only.

WHEREAS further regulations are necessary for such slaves as have already been admitted into this island : May it please your Majesty that it may be enacted ; and be it enacted by the lieutenant-governor, council, and assembly of this island, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That, within the space of ten days from and after the passing this act, every person, not being a natural-born subject of his majesty, residing or being in any part of this island, owning or possessing any slave or slaves brought into this island from any other place than the coast of Africa, shall, either by him, herself, or agent, being a white person, produce such slave or slaves before the clerk of the peace of the parish in which such person shall be or reside, or the lawful deputy of such clerk ; and such clerk or deputy shall, for every such slave so produced, give a certificate for each such slave in the following form :

“ These are to certify, that on the day of [A. B. or his or her agent] hath produced at this office a negro, or mulatto, slave [the name, country, size, figure, age, of the slave to be described] the property of [the name, country, rank, and occupation of the proprietor, to be described] resident at since the day of

“ Office of the clerk of the peace for the parish of dated the day of 179 .”

And such clerk or deputy shall make an entry of every such certificate, in the words thereof at length, in a book to be by him provided and kept for that purpose : And a return shall be made by the clerk of the peace of every parish in this island, within seven days after issuing such certificate, to the custos or chief magistrate of the respective parish, of the certificates so granted by such clerk or his deputy; which return shall set forth the substance and date of every such certificate, under penalty of forfeiting the sum of ten pounds for each neglect: And, upon such return being so made, each clerk making the same shall be entitled to receive the sum of five shillings for every certificate by him granted, and in the return set forth; which shall be paid him by the receiver-general for the time being, out of any monies that may be in his hands, upon the order of the custos or chief magistrate of every such parish; and in case any such certificate shall be lost or destroyed by accident, the same shall be renewed, upon application of the owner or possessor of the slave, either personally or in writing, for whom the same shall have been granted, and such slave being again produced before the clerk of the peace who shall have granted the original so lost or destroyed, upon being paid the sum of five shillings by the party applying for the same.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful for any peace-officer of any parish in this island, and for any officer or private of the town-guard of Kingston, to apprehend every such slave, who, after the expiration of ten days from the passing of this act, shall be found without such certificate as aforesaid, and carry such slave before the clerk of the peace of the parish for examination before two magistrates: And if it shall thereupon appear, that such slave has not been certificated in manner aforesaid, such slave shall be, by order of such magistrates, sold by the provost-marshal or his lawful deputy, for transportation, and be transported accordingly: And the monies to arise from such sale, after deducting therefrom a commission of five pounds per cent. and all other necessary expences, shall be applied in the following manner; one moiety thereof to the use of his Majesty, his heirs and successors, for and towards the support of the government of this island, and the other moiety to the person or persons apprehending such slave or slaves: And if it shall appear that such slave had been certificated as aforesaid, but that the certificate has been lost or destroyed by the negligence of such slave, the magistrates may, in their discretion, commit such slave to a gaol or workhouse for a time not exceeding twenty-four hours: And for every slave so apprehended for examination as aforesaid, the person apprehending the same shall be entitled to receive the sum of ten shillings; to be paid by an order of such magistrates upon the receiver-general for the time being, who is hereby authorized and required to pay the same.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any constable, peace-officer, or any other person, shall wilfully destroy such certificate, he shall, on being duly convicted thereof before any two magistrates of the parish where the offence shall have been committed, be fined in a sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and be kept in confinement in one of the gaols of this island until the fine be paid; provided such confinement shall not exceed the term of three months.

Provided nevertheless, and be it further enacted, That nothing in this act shall be construed to extend to any person whatsoever, who shall have been naturalized, and resident in this island on or before the first day of January, which was in the year of our Lord 1792.

And whereas much danger is to be apprehended from the admission into this island of slaves new or heretofore the property of persons not being natural-born subjects of his Majesty: Be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That from and after six days after the passing of this act, the master or commander of every ship, vessel, or boat, which shall arrive in any port of this island, shall, immediately on his arrival, declare upon oath, to the collector or comptroller of the customs of such port, whether there are, to the best of his knowledge, any negro or other slave or slaves on board his said vessel; and shall, in his said declaration, specify the number and sexes of such slave or slaves, if any on board his said vessel.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the master or commander of every ship, vessel, or boat, so arriving as aforesaid, who shall neglect or refuse to make such declaration on oath as aforesaid, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay the sum of seventy pounds for each and every such slave who shall have been on board at the time of the arrival of such ship, vessel, or boat as aforesaid; one moiety whereof shall be to his Majesty, his heirs and successors, for the support of the government of this island, the other moiety to the informer or informers; to be recovered before any two magistrates acting in and for the parish in which such offence shall have been committed: And that it shall and may be lawful for the collector or comptroller, who are hereby required and enjoined, under a penalty of one hundred pounds, to detain such ship, vessel, or boat as aforesaid, until the same shall have been paid.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That, from and after six days after the passing of this act, it shall not be lawful for any master or commander of any ship, vessel, or boat, arriving in any port of this island, to land or suffer to be landed any slave or slaves, without a permit in writing from the collector or comptroller of the customs of such port where he shall arrive, under pain of forfeiture and confiscation of the ship, vessel, or boat, and of the tackle, furniture, and apparel thereof.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That no collector or comptroller of the customs shall grant to any master or commander of any ship, vessel, or boat, so arriving as aforesaid, any permit, except as is hereinafter mentioned, to land or suffer to be landed any slave or slaves as aforesaid, under the penalty of two hundred pounds for each and every slave so permitted to be landed; to be recovered in the supreme court or courts of assize in this island; one moiety thereof to the use of his Majesty, his heirs and successors, for the support of the government of this island, the other moiety to the person suing for the same.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That it shall and may be lawful for any collector or comptroller of the customs to grant a permit for the landing of one domestic slave, and no more, for each and every officer, civil or military, actually employed in his Majesty's service, not being a natural-born subject; any thing in this or any other act to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That all permits herein before required to be given by any collector or comptroller of the customs shall be given without any fee or reward whatever; but such collector or comptroller shall be entitled to receive ten shillings for each declaration on oath, permit, and return, made by him or them to the governor or commander in chief of this island; and on the said return being made, the commander in chief is hereby authorised and empowered to direct the receiver-general to pay the same to the person so entitled, out of any monies that may be in his hands.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every slave sold for transportation under and by virtue of this act, who shall be found at large within this island thirty days after such sale as heretofore directed, such slave may be apprehended by any person whomsoever, and immediately taken before any of his Majesty's justices of the peace; and if it shall be made appear, to the satisfaction of such justice, that such slave had been formerly sold by virtue of this act, such justice shall, by warrant under his hand and seal, direct such slave to be delivered over to the provost-marshal, or his lawful deputy, to be re-sold for transportation only: And the monies arising from such sale, after deducting a commission of five per cent. and all necessary expences, shall be paid over, one moiety whereof to the person apprehending such slave, and the other moiety to his Majesty, his heirs and successors, for and towards the support of the government of this island; and the purchaser of such slave, at such former sale for transportation, shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds for every such slave so found at large as aforesaid; to be recovered in the supreme court or courts of assize in this island, by action, bill, plaint, or information; one moiety thereof to his Majesty, his heirs and successors, for and towards the support of the government of this island, and the other moiety to the person apprehending such slave.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That this act, and every clause, matter and thing therein contained, shall be and continue in force, from the passing thereof, for the term of one year, and no longer.

An Act to amend an Act, entitled "An Act to establish a Guard in the Town of Kingston for the safety and protection thereof," and for the better regulating the Police within the said Town, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS an act of the lieutenant governor, council, and assembly of this island, entitled "an act to establish a guard in the town of Kingston for the safety and protection thereof," passed in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty four, hath been found inadequate in many respects; and whereas it would tend much to the convenience, comfort, and health of the inhabitants of the said town, if a certain number of the negro and other slaves received into the workhouse of the said town were daily employed in repairing the streets thereof, and in clearing the same from the dung, filth, broken glass, and rubbish from time to time deposited and thrown therein; we, therefore, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects the assembly of this your island of Jamaica, do most humbly beseech your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted by the lieutenant governor, council, and assembly of the said island, and it is hereby enacted and ordained by the authority of the same, that from and after the passing of this act the nightly watch kept in the said town of Kingston shall be called by the name of the "Kingston Night Guard;" and the justices and vestry of the said town shall and may, yearly and every year, or as often as they shall think necessary, and they are hereby authorised and empowered to nominate and appoint such a number of discreet and able bodied men, as officers and privates to compose the said night guard, as they shall judge sufficient and requisite for that purpose; and the said justices and vestry of the said town are hereby authorised and empowered to direct and appoint, in writing, in what manner and at what hours the said night guard shall be stationed and ordered out, in what manner they shall be armed, how long they shall continue on duty, and what wages or pay shall be allowed to such officers and privates respectively for their service; and also to erect, hire, or otherwise provide such place or places in the said town as shall be deemed proper for the meeting and reception of such night guard, and from time to time to make and give such orders and regulations respecting their service as the safety and protection of the peace and inhabitants of the town shall require, and as to the said justices and vestry shall seem meet and expedient.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, that true copies or transcripts of all such nominations, orders, and regulations, as shall from time to time be made and given for the establishment, direction, and government of the said night guard, shall be signed by the said justices and vestry; and in order that no ignorance thereof shall be pretended and alledged by any of the said officers and privates so to be nominated and appointed, such copies or transcripts shall be affixed and stuck up in some public part of such place or places so to be erected, hired, or otherwise provided for their meeting and reception as aforesaid: and the said officers and privates of the said night guard shall, and they are hereby authorised to patrol and keep watch and ward within the streets, lanes, and other places of the said town, at such hours, in such manner, and in such places as shall from time to time be given out, appointed, and directed by the said justices and vestry, and shall in their several turns and courses of watching use their utmost endeavours to prevent all mischiefs happening by fire, and all murders, burglaries, robberies, breaches of the King's peace, riots, and all other outrages and disorders, and all tumultuous assemblies of slaves; and in order to the prevention thereof the said officers and privates are hereby jointly and severally authorised, empowered, and required, to arrest, apprehend, and detain, in the watch or guard house of the said town, or other proper and convenient place of security to be provided and fixed on by the said justices and vestry within the said town, all and every person and persons whomsoever, committing, or aiding and abetting in any such murders, burglaries, robberies, breaches of the peace, riots, and disorders, and all and every such person and persons who shall be found idly wandering about or misbehaving themselves in the said town after such hour in the evening as the said justices and vestry shall from time to time appoint; and also all such negro, mulatto, and other slaves as shall be found after such time in the streets, lanes, and other places of the said town, incapable of giving any proper or satisfactory account of themselves, and without having letters or tickets from their owners; and such persons so apprehended and arrested, to detain and secure in the said watch or guard house, or other place to be provided as aforesaid, in order that they may be carried and examined the next morning, or as soon as may be, before the sitting magistrates at the office of the clerk of the peace of the said town, to be committed by them to the workhouse of the said town as vagrants or suspected persons, or released or otherwise dealt with according to law: and it shall and may be lawful to and for the said justices of the said town to commit all and every such slave and slaves which shall be arrested and apprehended by the said night guard, and without letters and tickets as aforesaid, and incapable of giving any proper or satisfactory account of himself, herself, or themselves, to the workhouse of the said town for any number of days not exceeding five days; and the overseer or supervisor of the said workhouse is hereby empowered to receive such slave or slaves therein, and upon every commitment of such slave or slaves by such sitting magistrates, the owner or owners of such slave or slaves shall be obliged to pay to such night guard the sum of two shillings and sixpence for apprehending every such slave, and to the clerk of the peace of the said town the like sum of two shillings and fixpence for his trouble in taking down the examination and making out the commitment of every such slave, and further to pay all such charges as may be incurred in the support and feeding of such slave or slaves at the work house during his, her, or their confinement, before such slave or slaves shall be released and restored to their owner or owners.

And it is hereby further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the officer of the said night guard who shall have the command thereof for the time being, shall be obliged, and he is hereby required, once at the least, and oftener in each night as shall be directed by the said justices and vestry, to go his round and see that the privates of the said night guard are in their proper districts and stations, and performing the duty and service allotted to them according to the orders and regulations of the said justices and vestry as aforesaid: and in case any such private or privates shall misbehave or shall be found drunk, sleeping in their stations, or neglecting his or their duty, such officer commanding the said night guard is hereby authorised and empowered to arrest such private or privates, and to suspend him or them, and to appoint one or more person or persons to officiate in his or their stead until the next meeting of the said justices and vestry of the said town, when such officer shall acquaint the said justices and vestry of the misbehaviour or neglect of duty for which such private or privates was or were arrested and suspended, in order that the said justices and vestry may examine therein, and if the said justices and vestry shall find upon such examination that such complaint is well grounded and properly supported, such private or privates shall be discharged from his or their appointment, and shall forfeit the arrears of pay that may be due to him or them.

And it is hereby further enacted, that if any officer or officers of the said night guard shall neglect or refuse to perform the duty and service herein before required of him or them, and shall misbehave himself or themselves, and thereby set a bad example to the privates of the said night guard, the officer or officers so offending shall, upon any complaint thereof being made and proved to the satisfaction of the said justices and vestry by any person or persons whatsoever capable of giving legal evidence therein, forfeit the arrears of his or their pay, and shall, if the said justices and vestry shall judge proper, be discharged from his or their appointment, and be declared incapable and unfit of again serving in the said night guard. And whereas many slaves and disorderly people of colour meet and assemble together at improper and unseasonable hours in negro houses, negro yards, and other places in the said town, and beat drums, blow horns, or otherwise make a tumultuous noise, to the very great inconvenience and disturbance of the rest of the inhabitants of the said town, and which meetings and assemblies tend very much to injure the health of such slaves; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that from and after the hour of nine of the clock in the evening until the hour of five in the morning, it shall and may be lawful to and for the said officers and privates of the said night guard, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to enter into any such negro houses, negro yards, or other places where such meetings and assemblies shall be held, on any pretence whatsoever, whether civil or religious, and immediately seize and apprehend all such slaves and other disorderly persons, and detain them in the said guard or watch-house until the next morning, in order that they may be carried as soon as may be convenient to the office of the clerk of the peace of the said town, there to be examined before the sitting magistrates, and to be proceeded against and dealt with as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted, That the justices and vestry of the said parish shall provide a fit and proper bell, and cause the same to be fixed at the guard house, to be there kept for the purpose of being rung at the hour of nine in every night, in order to make known the time; and it shall be the duty of the said officer of the said guard for the night to cause such bell to be rung accordingly, for the purpose aforesaid, under the penalty of forty shillings for every neglect; and if any person or persons whatever shall give information, either in person or in writing, under his, her, or their hand or hands, to the officer of the night guard commanding the same for the time being, that any such tumultuous meeting or assembly of slaves and other disorderly persons of colour is held in any place within the said town, and shall point out such place, street, or lane, and such officer shall not immediately send a proper force to apprehend and seize all such slaves and disorderly persons as aforesaid, such officer shall upon complaint thereof being made and proved, by one or more credible witness or witnesses, to the satisfaction of the said justices and vestry, forfeit the sum of ten pounds for every such offence, to be stopped and detained by the said justices and vestry out of his pay or allowance; provided that such complaint be made and proved as aforesaid before the justices and vestry at their next meeting after the commission of such offence.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the officers and privates of the said night guard, so to be nominated and appointed by the said justices and vestry as aforesaid, under the authority of this act, shall be, and they are hereby protected and indemnified in all things which they shall lawfully do by virtue of this act for the safety and protection of the said town as aforesaid, in like manner as if every individual of the said night guard was a constable or peace officer. And whereas the streets and lanes of the said town, and the avenues leading into and out of the same, are equally incumbered and in many places rendered almost impassable by dunghills and other filth and rubbish, and many ill disposed persons throw broken glass and earthen ware in the said streets, lanes, and avenues, to the great danger and annoyance of the inhabitants and of all other persons coming into and going out of the said town; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the corporation of the said workhouse do and shall, and they are hereby required to employ or cause to be employed, in each and every day in the year (Sundays and holidays excepted) a sufficient number of able negro and other slaves, which shall be received into the said workhouse of the said town, for the purpose of cleansing and repairing the streets and lanes, and such parts of the ways, roads, and avenues immediately leading into and out of the same town, and the vacant and uninclosed lots of the said town, and to remove and carry away the filth, dunghills, and rubbish of all kinds that are in and among the same, and to root up, cut down, and destroy the opoponax and other trees and bushes, and other impediments as are in the said streets, lanes, paths, roads, and avenues, and to carry away and deposit the same in such place or places as shall be fixed and appointed by the said justices and vestry of the said town for that purpose; and for that purpose the said justices and vestry are hereby authorised and empowered to purchase or lease any lot or lots of land within the said town, or any place or places adjoining thereto, which they shall think most proper and convenient, and also to repair and amend the streets with good gravel sand, or other lasting and inoffensive materials, and to cut drains to carry off the water from the said streets and lanes of the said town; and for the better enabling the said workhouse negroes to cleanse, repair, and amend the said streets, lanes, roads, ways, and avenues, the said justices and vestry are hereby required to furnish and provide two or more hand carts, to be used and employed by the said workhouse negroes for the purposes aforesaid. And whereas the health of the inhabitants of the said town is often endangered by means of putrid salt fish, herrings, beef, and other provisions, rancid butter, and other offensive commodities, being from time to time exposed in or at the doors of shops, houses or stores, wharfs or other places in the said town, or kept therein, to remedy such inconvenience for the future, be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that from and after the passing of this act no person or persons whomsoever shall expose or keep for sale, in or at the doors or piazzas of any house, shop, store, or in any of the streets or lanes of the said town, or on the wharf or wharves in any place adjacent thereto, any putrid salt fish, herrings, beef, or other putrid provisions, or any rancid butter, or other offensive commodity whatsoever, or keep the same in any dwelling house or out office, to the annoyance of any of the inhabitants of the said town under the penalty of ten pounds for every such offence, one moiety whereof shall be for the support of the poor of the said parish, and the other moiety to the informer; to be recovered in a summary manner before any two or more justices of the peace of the said town upon oath of one or more credible witnesses.

or witnesses, any thing in this or in any other act to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That from and after the passing of this act it shall and may be lawful to and for any one or more justice or justices of the said town, on view of selling or publickly exposing to sale of, any putrid provisions, rancid butter, or other offensive commodities whatsoever, in any of the aforesaid places in the said town and parish, forthwith to cause the same to be seized and immediately destroyed, any thing in this or any former act to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.

And whereas it is a frequent practice with persons importing horses, mules, steers, and other large stock into the harbour of Kingston, to throw and cast, or cause to be thrown and cast, into the said harbour the carcases of such horses, mules, steers, and other large stock as happen to die after their arrival either from the ship or other vessel in which they are imported, or from the place or places where they are kept for sale after they are landed, to the great nuisance and danger of the health of the inhabitants of the said parish, and of all persons coming and trading thereto; be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That, from and after the passing of this act, if any person or persons shall be found and detected throwing and casting, or causing to be thrown or cast, into the said harbour of Kingston, the carcase or carcases of any horse or horses, mule or mules, steer or steers, or other large stock, either from on board any ship or other vessel lying or being in the said harbour, or from any part of the shore of the said parish, or shall throw or leave the same on the shore of the sea within any part of the said parish, every such person so offending shall for every such carcase so thrown from on board such vessel or left on shore, forfeit the sum of ten pounds, upon due proof thereof being made on the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, before any one of the justices of the peace of the said parish; to be recovered by distress and sale of the offender's goods and chattels by warrant under the hand and seal of such justice of the peace, to be applied as herein after next mentioned.

And whereas by reason that the imperters of such horses, mules, steers, and other stock, are generally foreigners and transient persons, and may depart from the said parish and harbour before such forfeiture can be recovered, and may thereby evade the penalty herein before imposed on any such offence; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, That in all or any such case or cases, where such person or persons so offending shall depart from the said parish and harbour of Kingston, it shall and may be lawful to and for any one of the said justices of the peace of the said parish, upon oath being made before him that the person or persons so offending hath or have departed from the said parish and harbour, to issue a summons under his hand and seal, requiring the consignee or consignees of such ship or other vessel in which any such horses, mules, steers and other stock shall have been imported, and in case there shall be no such consignee or consignees, or if any, that he or they cannot be discovered or known, then the person who shall have given or become the security for the master of such ship or other vessel, required and taken in the secretary's office of this island, to appear before him on a day and place within the said parish to be appointed by the said justice; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the said justice, upon the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, that the carcase or carcasses of any horse or horses, mule or mules, steer or steers, or other cattle, hath been thrown and cast into the said harbour from any ship or other vessel whereof he or they was or were the consignee or consignees, or the security as aforesaid, or from the shore after the same horses, mules, and steers, and other stock were landed; or hath been thrown and left on any part of the sea shore within the said parish by the owner or owners, master, or other person belonging to the said ship or other vessel, or by their orders or directions, such consignee or consignees, or security as aforesaid, shall for every such carcase forfeit the sum of ten pounds, to be recovered as aforesaid; one moiety whereof to be paid to the person or persons informing of any such offence, and the other moiety to the acting church-wardens of the said parish for the use of the poor thereof.

And whereas the galloping of horses, or riding or driving them furiously, or driving waggons, wains, or carts furiously through the streets and lanes of the said town, is attended with great danger to the several persons passing in and along the said streets and lanes; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if any negro, mulatto, or Indian, or any person of colour, being a slave, shall from and after the first day of January one thousand seven hundred and ninety five, be found galloping or riding, or driving furiously, any horse, mare, or gelding, or any mule or ass, or any waggon, wain, cart, or other wheel carriage, drawn by horses, asses, mules, or horned cattle, through the streets and lanes of the said town, or who shall wilfully or carelessly turn loose any horse, mare, gelding, ass, mule, or horned cattle in the streets and lanes of the said town to the danger of the inhabitants, the owner or employer of, or the agent of such slave or slaves, shall forfeit the sum of forty shillings for every such offence; to be recovered by warrant under the hand and seal of any one of the justices of the peace of the said town, who is hereby empowered and required, on the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to summon the owner, employer, his or their agent who shall offend in the premises, to shew cause (on a day to be appointed in such summons not exceeding three days from the time of the complaint made) why he, she, or they should not pay the said forty shillings, which summons shall be served one day at least before the day therein mentioned for shewing cause, by leaving a copy thereof with the said owner, employer, or his or their agent, him, her, or their dwelling-house or place of doing business in the said town and parish; and in case the party summoned does not appear at the day, or if he does appear and it shall be proved before such justice, by the oath of one lawful witness, that such slave or slaves had offended in the premises, such justice shall forthwith (unless the forty shillings for every such offence, and the costs attending the same, be paid before him) issue his warrant for raising the said forty shillings, by levying on, and distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such person so liable to pay the same, together with all costs and charges attending the same, which said forty shillings shall be paid to the informer thereof, or in case of his refusing to accept the same, to the poor of the parish: Provided, that if the owner, employer, or their agents so summoned, shall deliver up any such slave or slaves complained of and charged with having offended in the premises, to the justice to whom such complaint shall be made, to be publicly punished for such offence by receiving thirty nine lashes in the whole at the four most public pumps in the streets of the said town, or to be confined to hard labour for six days in the workhouse of the said town at the option of the said justice, in such case the said owner or employer, or their agents, shall be excused from the forfeiture and payment of the said forty shillings; provided, that no summons shall be issued unless the complaint be made within one week after the offence committed in case the party liable to the forfeiture shall then be in town, otherwise at any time after within a week when the party liable shall return to the said town: and in case the said offence shall be committed by any free person of colour the party so offending shall pay such fine as to the said justice shall seem meet, not exceeding five pounds, and all costs attending the same, to be raised and levied as aforesaid, or committed to hard labour in the workhouse for one week.

And whereas there is great danger of accidents by fire, by persons being permitted to shoot or kill birds within the said town, with guns or pistols; be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That from and after the passing of this act no person whatsoever shall shoot or kill, or attempt to shoot or kill birds in any part of the said town with guns or pistols, or in its neighbourhood, within a mile of the said town, under the penalty of forfeiting the said guns or pistols to any person or persons who shall make complaint thereof to any of his Majesty's justices of the peace in the said town.

And whereas several of the drays, carts, and other carriages kept, used, and driven in and about the said town and parish of Kingston, for the purpose of carrying and conveying goods, wares, merchandize, lumber, and other commodities for hire, belong to free negroes and people of colour, and slaves, who are not taxed or rated in the books of the said parish, and contribute nothing in aid of the parochial expences and contingencies thereof although great profits arise and are made thereby, and the prices or rates of carriage in the said parish being unsettled: such owners of the said drays, carts, and other carriages, or the persons employed by them, frequently charge and demand exorbitant prices for the same; to remedy which, be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, that no person or persons whatsoever shall presume, from and after the passing of this act, by him, her, or themselves, or by any slave or slaves, or other person or persons to be employed by him, her, or them, to keep, drive, use, or employ any drays, carts, or other carriages, for the purpose of carrying, conveying, and transporting any goods, wares, merchandize, lumber, or commodities of any kind whatsoever for hire or pay, without having obtained a licence for that purpose as herein after is mentioned, under the penalty of ten pounds for every such dray, cart, or other carriage so kept, driven, and employed for the purpose aforesaid, to be recovered and applied as herein after is mentioned.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That any two of the justices of the said parish shall have power and authority, and are hereby empowered and required, under their hands and seals to licence all such persons, slaves excepted, who, from and after the passing of this act, shall be desirous of driving, keeping, or using for hire any such dray or drays, cart or carts, or other carriages within the said parish, and for every such licence the person receiving the same shall pay into the hands of the acting churchwarden of the said parish the sum of two pounds for every such dray, cart, or other carriage to be kept for hire, to go in aid of the parochial expences.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every such dray, cart, or other carriage which shall be licenced as aforesaid, shall be numbered and marked with a figure under the penalty of five pounds, such number and figure to be mentioned in the licence, and also to be set and painted on the outside of each shaft of such dray, cart, or carriage, in large and legible letters and figures, expressing the number, to the intent and in order that the owner or owners thereof may be ascertained and known upon any complaint being made against him, her, or them; and if any person shall be licenced to keep more than one dray, cart, or other carriage for hire at the same time, he, she, or they, shall take out separate licences for the same, and every such cart, dray, or other carriage, shall have several and separate figures or numbers as if they belonged to several persons, and that no person shall presume to deface or blot out such figure or number under the penalty of five pounds for every such offence.

And in order that the prices or rates of carriage in and about the said parish may be regulated and fixed, and impositions thereby avoided, the said justices and vestry of the said parish are hereby authorized, empowered, and required to fix and establish the rates or prices which the owner or owners of such drays, carts, or other carriages, shall be entitled to demand and receive for the carrying, conveying, and transporting such goods, wares, merchandize, lumber, and other commolicities within the said town and parish, according to the size, weight, and quantity thereof, and according to the distance to which they shall be so carried, conveyed, and transported; a copy or transcript of which rates or prices shall be engrossed in a large hand, and affixed in some conspicuous part of the office of the clerk of the peace of the said parish, for the reference, inspection, and information of all persons whom it shall or may concern; one copy of which said rates shall be delivered to each and every owner or owners of each and every such licenced dray or drays, cart or carts, or other carriages, together with the licence by him or them taken out.

And if any owner or owners of any such dray or drays, cart or carts, or other carriages to be licenced as aforesaid, or other person or persons employed by him, her, or them, shall demand, take, and exact more than such rates or prices so to be fixed and established by the said justices and vestry as aforesaid, for the conveying, carrying, and transporting any such goods, wares, merchandize, lumber, and other commodities in the said town and parish, or shall refuse to carry, convey, and transport to any part within the said parish any such goods, wares, merchandize, lumber, and other commodities, from and after six of the clock in the morning, and before six of the clock in the evening, upon any application being made to the driver, drayman, or other person having the care of such dray, cart, or other carriage, and upon tender of the rate and price fixed and established for the same by any person or persons whomsoever, the owner or owners of every such cart, dray, or other carriage, the driver, drayman, or other person having the charge thereof, shall so offend, shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of twenty shillings; which offence and forfeiture shall be heard, adjudged, determined, and recovered by two of his Majesty's justices of the peace of the said parish, and that the evidence of any one white person shall be sufficient to convict such offender or offenders if against a white person, and if against a mulatto, Indian, or negro, the evidence of any one white person, mulatto, Indian, or negro shall be sufficient to convict him, her, or them, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, that no licence or licences, for the purpose aforesaid, shall be granted for more than one year, to commence on the first day of January one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, and that there shall be no licences granted to any but to such persons in the said parish as the justices to whom application shall be made for that purpose shall approve of, and that for every such licence the person receiving the same shall pay the sum of one pound five shillings to the clerk of the peace of the said parish for making out the licence and recording the same, and the name of the proprietor and number of each dray, cart, or other carriage so licenced, to be kept and recorded in a separate book for that purpose, which book shall be kept open at all reasonable times (Sundays excepted), to the reference and inspection of all persons whatsoever without fee or reward.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if any person or persons shall refuse or neglect to pay the driver, drayman, or other person having the care of such licenced dray, cart, or other carriage, the money justly due for the conveying, carrying, and transporting of any goods, wares, merchandise, lumber, and other commodities within the said parish, it shall and may be lawful for any justice of the peace within the said parish, upon complaint thereof, to summon the person or persons so neglecting or refusing to pay, and upon proof thereof being made to the satisfaction of such justice, he is hereby empowered to award reasonable satisfaction to the party complaining for his damage and costs, and upon neglect or refusal of the person or persons complained against to pay the same, then to levy the same by distress and sale of his or their goods and chattels by warrant under his hand and seal.

And whereas some doubts have been entertained by the justices of the said parish of Kingston, whether they are authorized and empowered by an act entitled "An act to repeal an act entitled an act for licencing hawkers and pedlars, and for applying the monies to arise from granting such licences towards the support and maintenance of the poor of the parishes where such licences are granted, and for prohibiting the practice of hawking and peddling within the parishes of this island," passed in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety one, to cause to be publicly sold, as is thereby directed, the goods, wares, and merchandize found in the possession of any hawker, pedlar, or petty chapman, other than the goods immediately offered for sale; Be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that from and after the passing of this act it shall and may be lawful for any two of the justices of the peace for the said parish, upon any hawker, pedlar, or petty chapman being brought before them, and on due proof on oath that the party or parties so brought before them had been found hawking, peddling, or trading contrary to the true intent and meaning of the said act, to cause all and every the goods, wares, and merchandize, which shall be found upon and taken in the possession of such hawker, pedlar, and petty chapman, offering any part thereof for sale, to be publicly sold by warrant under the hands and seals of the said two justices, and the monies arising therefrom to be paid and applied in the manner directed in and by the said act, any thing in the said act to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if any constable of the said parish of Kingston shall refuse or neglect, upon due notice to him given, or on his own view, to seize and detain any such hawker, pedlar, or petty chapman, or persons trading contrary to the true intent and meaning of the said act, and to carry him, her, or them before one of the justices of the peace of the said parish, to be dealt with and proceeded against as is directed in and by the said act, every such constable being thereof convicted, by the oath of one or more credible and competent witness or witnesses, before any justice of the peace of the said parish, shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of two pounds ten shillings, to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant under the hand and seal of such justice, to be paid into the hands of the church-warden or church-wardens of the said parish for the time being, for the use of the poor thereof.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that it shall and may be lawful, for two or more of the said justices, to issue their warrant, directed to one or more of the said constables in the said parish, authorising such constable or constables to take with him or them such assistance as he or they may think necessary, and to kill and destroy all hogs that shall be found at large in and about the streets and lanes of the said parish.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that all penalties inflicted by this act, and not herein before directed in what manner the same shall be recovered and applied, shall be recovered and applied in the following manner; all forfeitures and penalties not exceeding ten pounds shall be recovered by complaint to any two of his Majesty's justices of the peace for the parish of Kingston, who are hereby directed and empowered to compel the payment, by warrant of distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party liable to pay the same; but all penalties exceeding ten pounds, shall be recovered by action of debt in his Majesty's supreme court of judicature, or court of common pleas for the said parish, where no essoin, protection or wager of law shall be allowed; one moiety thereof to the informer, or him, her, or them who shall sue or prosecute for the same, and the other moiety thereof to his Majesty, his heirs and successors, for and towards the support of the government of this island.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if any suit or action shall be brought or prosecuted against any person or persons for any thing done or to be done in pursuance of or under the authority of this present act, every such action or suit shall be commenced within six months after the fact alledged to have been committed and not afterwards; and the defendant or defendants in any such action or suit may plead the general issue, not guilty, and give this present act and the special matter in evidence at the trial to be had thereupon, and that the same was done in pursuance and by the authority of this act; and if the same shall appear to have been so done, or if any such action or suit shall be brought after the time before limited for bringing the same, that then in such case or cases the jury shall find a verdict for the defendant or defendants; or if the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall become nonsuited, or suffer a discontinuance of his, her, or their action or actions, or if a verdict shall pass against the plaintiff or plaintiffs, the defendant or defendants shall have treble costs, and the like remedy for the same as any defendant or defendants now hath or have for the recovery of costs of suit in other cases by law.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that this act shall be taken and allowed in all courts of justice as a public act, and all judges, justices, and others, are hereby required to take notice thereof as such without the same being specially pleaded.

Colonel B. G. G.

Dearest Orlando I fear my must I find you just when is almost worn out I have kept you so long without an answer but I am confident you will pardon me when you know the cause. Julia has been ^{so} ^{long} ^{ill} the I could not ^{be} ^{her} ⁱⁿ ^{the} moment even to write to you & I must confess your last letter I am the same magnitude but when I heard that one which I received on Friday, it dispelled every unpleasant sensation from my mind - he said Dear Orlando - Nothing in the world can ever have so powerfully changed my Affections & Actions from you. But yourself and a thought so amiable to happiness I will not for a moment dwell on - In Mary's letter Dear Orlando, if you do not really choose to make me believe myself a housewife I do not put so much as the delicate spirit of Slattery in your speech for I will know I do not try to aim to hold the suspecter you is ^{with} them protruded for the so purposefully broken beside My head will become so enriched by its forms the I shall now be able to oppose the plan he wholesome portion the kind of friend, hope present for the tip that is entered in the lucerne beverage of the former hours now and from the unforgotten thought of the latter I fear. Dearest Orlando the time will soon come when we shall meet perhaps here ^{you} the next again when I am home far from ^{our} the Memory - Rushing through each survival of existence Will still forthly meet At that ~~that~~ ^{dearly} ~~dearly~~ ^{pressed} ~~pressed~~ ^{pressed} ~~pressed~~ When enjoyment ~~sheds~~ it down on the ~~pettle~~ present and the ~~visits~~ of future life gleamed With illumined Touch of hope and expectation.

The Beloved Island where Thou shalt come to that thou wilt love Shall Yours Island be the Beloved Island
Island Beloved Mary
And different conclusion
But the Wise Love
Supremacy a truth vill at the thing that when I am away you will be able to forget me to forget your name to me when when by your name you have been ^{thinking} of me I am sure by your dearest heart and blood but really I cannot help allowing that sometimes to intrude themselves ~~into~~ ~~I am sure they~~ although I they are very much but I know the thoughts of separation to me is awful. beyond concepts A dear heart must understand Believe me unchangeably

They of you to our "Common" over and with every letter no words - I am

Dearest Friend
Although I am so sick to bed My pen is so very ill. Yet I cannot deny your Request to write a few lines to you You must forgive me for not writing before but I am so My illness will plead my excuse. I will tell you said you were ~~not~~ pleased with me for not writing long You would not expect it perhaps You thought I was if I write you I will sign you so Emma who have just written me with the she will tell you the Centre from I suppose, although weary and exhausted still my thoughts were fixed on you dear friend, she said you dear letter one to me a thousand times Oh how kind my Cousin is she would not leave me for a moment I do not even to visit to Orland, how grateful I am to think how kindly she would be, how in endearing bosom received the pressure of my aching head, how her soothing hand alleviated the pangs of throbbing head

How the willing ear receives my whispered plans of ~~seeking~~ admiral's ~~travelling~~ Weakness and how the tender eye explores my silent asking glow of seeking aid of friends ended I know I shall not now ever forget the kindness. Oh I am I that agonizing sense
I feel when I think I shall be separated from you perhaps
You will forget me
I know you forget you and will my heart be so much

It must be much, the unlike of Theoda with the fondness of her but I will not look forward to the future I will only think of the present. and hope for the best. I wish I could think you was certain. My writing is now at present not believe me ever more. Truly most affectionately
Yours
John

How delightful indeed are the sensations deriving from a pure and refined correspondence between the person who (as you yourself say) are so mutually attached to each other.
How truly I feel the truth of your great observation will respect to happiness of love.
No one can be truly happy if they do not think they so. I feel at present that true happy like the thoughts of futurity are indefinite than all appear so black and ugly. I will not allow my imagination

Be easy in my father.

(as you justly remark) we should never anticipate evil but ^{always} hope for the best the attachment I feel for you dear Orlando I cannot express ^{this} I suppose it is not composed of that weak and romantic passion which the object of the object below can bear No! I feel it is formed to the finest: the purest emotion of friendship I feel too envying the nothing on the earth can be - power to all it My dearest Orlando - your are the dearest to me.

My affections for you are in fact my last.
My dearest & my only choice in this I have centered warmest affection, I feel my heart is written to you by bonds which never can be rent down ~~and which no other but~~ ~~death can break by death.~~ Oh Orlando to give you an adequate idea. how much I esteem and love you but be impossible indeed.
Why, Oh why. Dear Orlando do you so often remind me of the ~~future of that~~ ~~idea~~ free the thought of which I cannot for a moment allow my imagination to run on. ~~to look forward~~ is a ~~nothing~~ ~~the~~ fancy ~~nothing~~ ~~the~~ ~~disolute~~ so. black and dreary why should we look forward. ^{in our} only think of the present and try and bury the thoughts of the future in amnesia, oblivion as you justly well we should never struggle with but ^{all} hope for the best.

Ever more fondly Beloved A few days since I felt myself the happiest creature in existence but now I feel I am the most miserable, how different then on my present sensation to those I then experienced than all was happiness unalloyed by doubt. But now how very very different. Oh how dreadful ^{and} the thought of separation for without the hope of meeting again

a heavy void I feel Below. The cad in my heart is united to you by ties which none but our ears can broken. Not to death that must be left I feel for you the most loyal friendship that love can bestow and now shall I lose another of heaven only know the anguish of mind I suffer when I reflect how soon I shall be separated

From you perhaps
I shall never meet you again: perhaps you forget the joys your father. Then ~~the thought of you~~ ~~is a pain to me~~ your belief throughout your life it is often the broken expression.

Or did I never love so kindly and true and shining. Now that I have parted I had never been broken hearted.
Still my heart is in my room. There

My first - My only - Annie I have in fact and best of them, My first - My last and dearest friend, who is my sister-in-law competition with her.

Now of c. when for any, will tell My Mother and I will with happy fondness on the

with clay on the city of the Monument
There is a great big stone

I have thought I would love with as ardently as enthusiasm as I could as I felt for you, from the first time I saw I felt an immense interest awakened in my heart for you and any day that you did not pass by I felt ^{very} unhappy & but that these things were in it but the next day when I saw you coming I felt all my sorrow & grief in the way of you and my heart in my hand almost to myself. but when I received your first letter it was then I really and experienced happiness for the first in my life I pleasure of love in an hour. Below in return I must I must send a cheerful word with you and
